Write Your Value Proposition

- Audience Focus: The audience is the people fortunate to have safe water. They are worried what happens to people drinking unsafe water. These are people who want to make a difference in the world
- Value Proposition: Come join us in making a change on a global scale. Be the waters of change that wash away the darkest of days, bringing hope, renewal, and a brighter tomorrow.

Write Copy for Your Landing Page

Transform your value proposition into a shorter, punchier version that works well as a headline and subheadline.

Headline: Take a stand and make a change

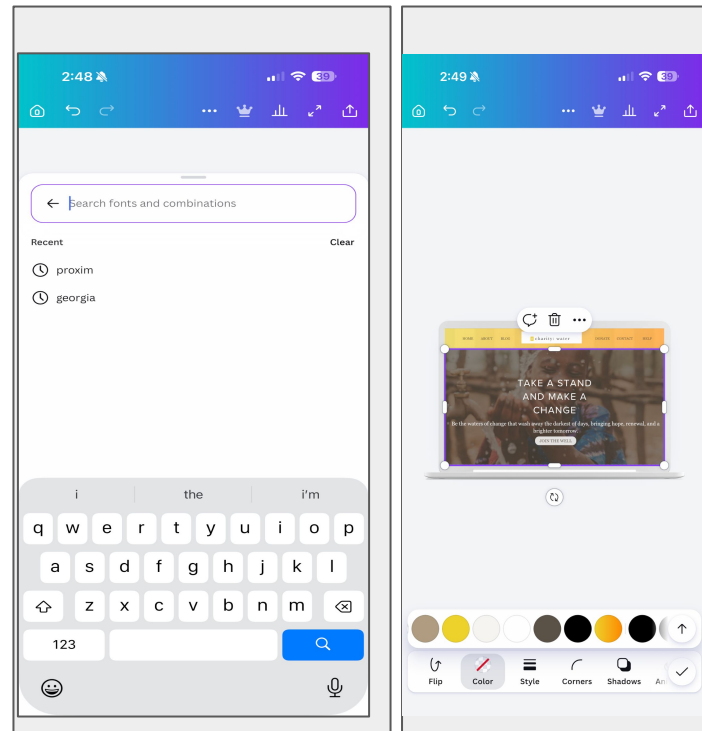

Subheadline: Be the waters of change that wash away the darkest of days, bringing hope, renewal, and a brighter tomorrow.

Brand Visuals – Color Palette & Typography (Font)

Note: select the colors from the brand guidelines and the font from the typography doc

Answer this: I chose to use the colors grey and yellow hoping to convey the imagery of turning dark into light. I used their choices of font for their specific items.

Brand Visuals – Photography

Explain your choice of photography for your hero image on your landing page. Why did you choose this image? Choose a image from here: charity: water visuals and use the brand guidelines to justify your choice.

I wanted the picture to show what drives the company to keep going, their impact. So I utilized a picture of a little boy smiling and playing with clean water.

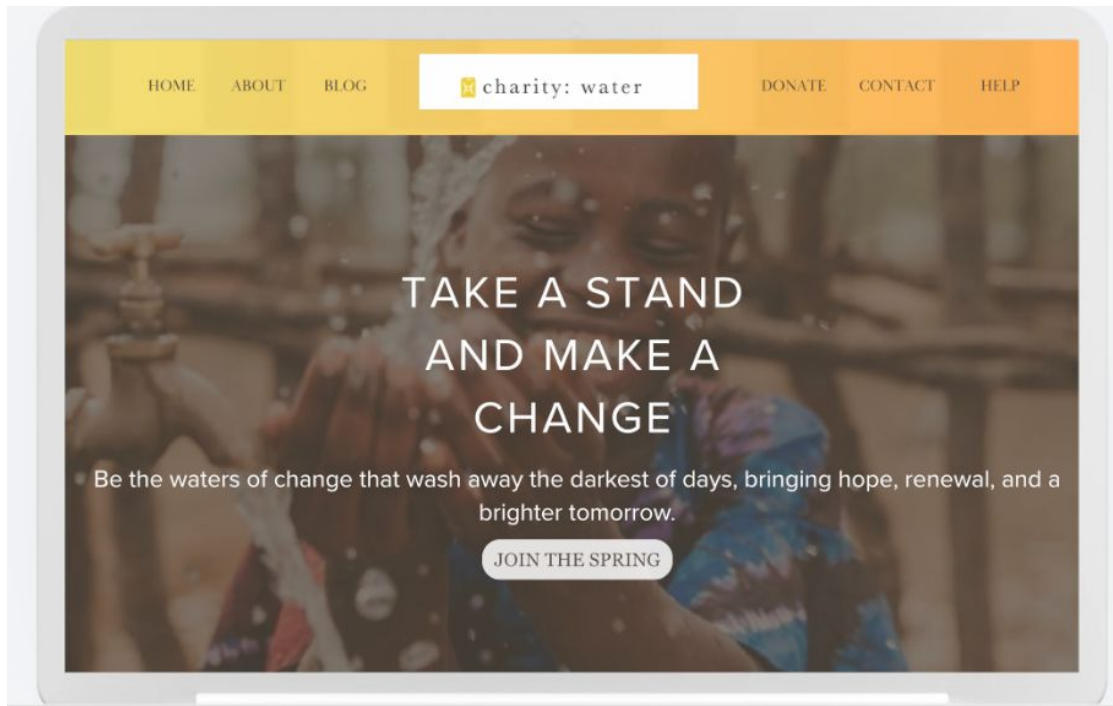

Landing Page

Make sure to review the Landing Page requirements on the previous slide. Remember to use the Canva templates we provide here to complete this section.

I believe that my headline is unique and immediately makes them focus on the company's goal. I also believe the imagery conveys passion in creating clean water for others. I believe the subheadline furthers it by explaining that our work changes bad days into good ones bringing hope.
